A WORTHY CANDIDATE.

The loyal voters of the Commonwealth ask no higher tribute to the worth and character of Judge Williams than the following neat compliment paid him by the only daily Democratic paper of Western Pennsylvania the day following his nomination. It said:

"The nomination of the Hon. Henry W. Williams as a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court is a good one. He was the best man named before the Republican Convention, and possesses legal and moral qualifications for the responsible position to which he has been nominated. Both parties have now presented their candidates. An important duty has been faithfully discharged by the respective conventions. The campaign may now be conducted without personal aspersions, and decided upon the principles of the two great parties. This is as it should be. It is an auspicious sign of the times, and if the county conventions are equally fortunate in the selection of legislative candidates, there will be a stop put to the deplorable corruption at the seat of government under a new reign of honest, conscientious legislators.—Pittsburgh Post, June 28th, 1867.

The Post, in referring to the above, on the 29th of August, was pleased to say

"We have nothing to take back or modify. Of Judge Williams' private or legal reputation we have nothing but words of praise, and however it may suit some pugnacious and heady politicians, we cannot bring ourselves to view personal assaults as either wise or politic."

FRIDAY from the Fifth Military District, General PHIL. SHERIDAN stood before our people last night and received the homage due his greatness. It was the anniversary of the battle of Winchester, where he sent the enemy "whirling down the valley," and the demonstration made by the loyal citizens of this neighborhood was worthy the occasion. The spontaneous uprising of the masses to bid him welcome and cheer him on his way, must have warmed the heart of the hero, as it was warmed with victory that night three years ago. In every voice of the many thousand which greeted Sheridan last night, he heard an honest endorsement of his official administration at New Orleans, while in the sea of upturned faces before him he read that the loyal masses are with him as they were when he faced and drove armies of traitors before him.

Republicans, Sheridan is with you. His principles are yours. He fought for them on the field, and is now unwilling to yield a single point to the enemy. At the approaching election you will again be called to honor Sheridan, with your votes, for in sustaining the principles he maintains in the face of powerful opposition, you will encourage and endorse his every action. Vote with the Democrats and you rebuke him—kissing the hand that would crush him.

AT THE Antietam celebration many of the spectators recognized Governor GEARY, and warmly called upon him for a speech. Some admirers of President JOHNSON called for him instead. Confusion ensued. Governor SWANN appealed to the multitude to desist, assuring them that after the programme had been carried out they should hear from some of the distinguished personages present. Notwithstanding the assurance, the calls for Governor GEARY were repeated, and with such continuity that he was constrained to invoke forbearance until the formal ceremonies were over. Order was in this way secured. As soon as the benediction was pronounced, the people renewed the calls upon Governor GEARY. The President, his Cabinet, Governor SWANN, and their whole set, stalked away, followed by derisive laughter. After they were gone Governor GEARY and Gov. FENTON both delivered addresses.

OUR NEXT CONGRESSMAN.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The country generally is agitated as to who shall receive the Republican nomination for the Presidency in 1868; and this agitation is not premature. Neither do we think that it would be premature to canvass the claims of a suitable person to represent our good Republican county in the Forty-first Congress.

Allegheny county has much at stake, and it is all-important that she should send as her Representative to Washington the best man she can find. And we have concluded, in thinking the matter over, and taking everything in consideration, that JAMES MCAULY is just the Representative we want. He understands our peculiar interests like a book; he is honest; he is capable, and therefore his claims should be duly considered.

REPUBLICAN.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19, 1867.

THE Butler Press is pleased to say:

The Republicans of Allegheny county have done a creditable thing in nominating Major Russell Errett for the State Senate. His long identification with the press has served to establish his reputation as one of the ablest and most influential of Republican journalists. Major Errett will not only ably, but honestly represent the people of Allegheny county in the Senate of Pennsylvania, and it would be well if other districts would see to sending men of like ability and distinguished purity of character to represent them in the councils of the State.

PENNSYLVANIA, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota, will hold their general elections on Tuesday, October 8th. "West Virginia" will hold an election on Thursday, October 24th. New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Maryland and Delaware, on Tuesday, November 5th, Kansas on Monday, November 11th.

BRITISH MINISTER DEAD.

Sir Frederick Bruce Died Suddenly in Boston—Honors to the Dead.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, September 19.—Senator Sumner telegraphed to Secretary Seward that Sir F. W. A. Bruce died in Boston at two o'clock this morning from apoplexy.

Baron Stoeckl, the Russian Minister, and Hon. Henry Howard, Secretary of British Legation, have just gone to Boston to make arrangements for the funeral.

The British Legation here is closed and draped in mourning, in respect to the memory of the late Minister. The sad news of his death has been telegraphed by cable to London and to the Queen in Scotland.

The death of Sir Frederick Bruce, in view of the present relations between the United States and Great Britain, is looked upon as a public calamity. It is not seen how, under the existing temper of the British nation, exhibited by the press, he can be replaced.

Rowland Sconcillor B—Sir Frederick Bruce arrived in this city last night at nine o'clock from Narragansett, where he had been stopping for a few days. He was accompanied by several other gentlemen, and, on arriving, was quite ill from threat disease, and much prostrated. Dr. Bigelow and Dr. Hodges were called for. Also Senator Sumner, who remained with him until two o'clock, when he died. Major Norcross, on hearing the sad intelligence, issued orders that flags of the city be displayed at half mast on City Hall, Faneuil Hall and the Custom House, as a public mark of respect tolled during the removal of the body from the city.

Mr. Howard, of the British Legation, left Washington for Boston to-day, to take charge of Sir Frederick Bruce's remains, which were being embalmed.

FROM WASHINGTON.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, September 19, 1867.

YELLOW FEVER VICTIM.

The Navy Department has intelligence of the death, by yellow fever, on the 15th inst., at the Pensacola Navy Yard, of Acting Master H. C. Wade, commanding the Tuckr.

A Galveston dispatch says Mrs. Griffin, wife of the late Brevet Major General Griffin, left there on the 16th for New York, well.

ILLNESS OF REGISTER COLBY.

A telegram to Colonel Graham, Acting Register of the Treasury, received this morning from his son of Register Colby, announces his father's illness beyond hope of recovery.

RETURNED TO DUTY.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Chandler, and Commissioner of Internal Revenue Rollins, returned to Washington this morning, and are at their respective desks.

GEN. HANCOCK.

Major General Hancock called on Secretary McCulloch this morning. It is not known when he will leave the city.

DEATH OF THE BRITISH MINISTER.

Secretary Seward received Mr. Ford, British Charge de Affairs, at four o'clock this morning, to confer upon the subject of the death of Sir Frederick Bruce. The Government and British Legation have communicated the sad intelligence to London. Arrangements for interment are deferred, pending instructions from England. Orders have been given for the proper honors to the deceased at Boston. The flag over the State Department is at half mast.

YELLOW FEVER AT GALVESTON AND ELSEWHERE IN TEXAS.

A letter received to-day from special Treasury Agent Benedict, dated Galveston, September 11th, states that since the 7th there have been no deaths of Custom House employees, and the yellow fever is dying out. The hopes were entertained of their recovery. Mr. Kirkpatrick, acting Collector, was able to be about, and was at the Custom House on the 10th.

The fever has scourged Indianola, Corpus Christi, Houston and many other towns, and is spreading elsewhere.

The last information from Brownsville is that there was no yellow fever there, and with strict quarantine regulations it was hoped the place would escape.

A letter to Galveston, dated Brownsville, which strictly corroborates the statements above, says: "If there be any truth in the adage that 'in a multitude of counsellors there is safety,' her Majesty's Government should have no difficulty in organizing the expedition, if they can only make up their minds whom to believe."

GENERAL NEWS.

—In a recent speech Senator Wilson predicted that at the next Presidential election the Republicans will be triumphant in thirty-eight States.

—Eleazer Tyler and Addison Parmenter, of Weston, Mass., were drowned on Saturday evening, by the upsetting of a boat in which they were sailing.

—A little son of Amos Kidder, the New York banker, died in Boston last week of lockjaw, produced by a broken tooth, the sharp stump of which penetrated the tongue.

—A brick machine has been invented in Fort Wayne that presses from green clay 50 bricks per minute, or 3,000 per hour. An application has been made for a patent.

—The crop returns from the South show that a large amount of surplus food has been raised in that region this season. Under a proper system of reconstruction there will be no more danger of a famine there.

—Intelligence from Davis county, N. C., just received, states that a Mr. Samuel Bailey shot and killed a negro, without any other provocation than that of being intoxicated and insulting in his language. No arrest had been made.

—Thus far, 41,703 whites and 39,795 blacks have been registered in North Carolina. The Raleigh Standard estimates that the entire registration of the State will vary not far from the following figures: Whites, 80,000; blacks, 60,000; total, 140,000.

—The alligator belonging to Van Amburgh's Menagerie made his escape from his cage on Saturday night, at Beardstown, Illinois, after the show was over. He made tracks immediately for the bay, and commenced a series of manœuvers which soon gave notice of his whereabouts. Sunday morning, the showmen, assisted by some others, by the aid of a net, captured, to his apparent discomfiture, the joyful animal.

—The old penitentiary building in Washington is to be demolished, and buildings to be used for mechanical purposes erected upon the site. The remains of J. Wilkes Booth will be reached in the removal of the prison, but those of Mrs. Surratt, Payne, Herold, Atzerott and Wirz will not be disturbed. The scaffold upon which Payne and others were executed will be removed. It has already been badly chipped by relic hunters.

—The annual payments to the Minnesota Chippewas are made this year much earlier than usual, at the agency, five miles from Crow Wing. The whole number of Chippewas is about 6,000, and the disbursement is $60,000 in money, with an equal amount in goods. Hole-in-the-day, head chief, resides near the agency, and is a curiosity to strangers. He drives fast horses, and is always accompanied by a couple of braves. He brought on a white wife from Washington (a hotel chambermaid), last spring, and has her domiciled with two or three of his red squaws in his comfortable log house. They get on peaceably together.

THE INDIAN WAR.

Northern Hostile Tribes Estimated to Number 22,000.—Information from Indian Commissioners.—Grand Council Agreed Upon.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19.—The Republican's correspondent with the Indian Commissioners, writing from Omaha, says: An officer who has just arrived, after traversing the country from Big Horn river, estimates the hostile Indians of the North at 20,000, most of whom are under the sway of Red Cloud, the Chief of the Upper Brute Sioux. Several hostile tribes are now concentrated about Rose Brute, on the Northern slope of the Rocky Mountains, between Forts Phil Kearney and C. F. Smith. Red Cloud is reported by Iron Ball to have said: "We don't want peace, because when we are at peace we are poor; when we are rich."

Large numbers of Indians are congregated at Fort Rice to meet the Peace Commissioners on their trip up the Missouri river, and were greatly disappointed on finding learned the Commissioners were obliged to turn back.

A letter from Fort Larned gives an account of a council between Cols. Murphy, Butterfield and Wynkoop, and Satantee, head chief of the Kiowas, on the 10th. Satantee professed the greatest friendship for the whites, and promised to send runners to the different Southern tribes, inviting them to council with the Peace Commissioners in October. Medicine Lodge Creek was the point determined on as the place for the grand council to be held with the Peace Commissioners.

A Confessed Murderer.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

MEMPHIS, September 19.—A negro named John Ethelrig, has been arrested on his own confession of being the murderer of Dr. Ramsay, on the Raleigh road, a short time since.

Chicago Forger Discharged.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

TOMORO, September 19.—Spaulding, alias Howard, the Chicago forger, was discharged by the police magistrate yesterday, the evidence being insufficient for his extradition.

Heavy Failure of Brokers.

The large insurance and brokerage agency of I. F. Dobson & Co., of Boston, which has branches in New York and Chicago, has suspended payment. Their liabilities are said to be $200,000, and many of the insurance companies of this city, for whom they acted as agents in other places, are sufferers by their loss.

The firm also acted as insurance brokers for many houses that prefer to do their insurance through brokers; and it is said that in some cases they received payment from such houses for premiums which they have failed to pay to the insurance companies. Those companies for whom they were regularly accredited agents will have to stand the loss, but the companies that received the business from them, as ordinary brokers, and that have not received the premium, will look to the insured for payment under the clause which is contained, as one of the conditions of insurance, in the policies of all New York companies.

A case of this kind was tried in one of our courts some time ago, and the insured was saved from paying the premium a second time only by producing his cancelled checks, which had been made payable to the order of the company, and endorsed by the secretary.

Numismatology.

Major Nichols, the depot master in Springfield, Mass., has a choice collection of coins. They extend in date from the earliest coins, made some centuries before Christ, to the latest issues, and in nationality sweep the whole world over, not forgetting Asia and Africa. Every people, ancient and modern, whose coins are known to be in existence, is represented in his collection, and there are a large number of complete sets that are remarkably fine. It is interesting to note the progress which coinage has made from the earliest and rudest attempts, producing merely rough chunks of metal down to the glittering "proof" coins of the present century. But it is not to be denied that there is a vast deal of character in the heads which appear on some of the ancient coins; the idea is there, though the means at hand for executing it were inadequate. Mr. Nichols's collection is also very rich in medals of all ages and sizes, and in curious English and American tokens, which throw no little light on the history of the times when they were issued. Many of his coins and medals are rare, and the collection, which he has been almost a score of years in gathering, is one of very great value.

Gratuitous Advice.

Two weeks ago the London papers were inundated with statements and advice in regard to the difficulties, dangers and delights of the Expedition to Abyssinia. The public was thoroughly forewarned. One man said that the troops must cross three hundred miles of jungle, where no water was. Another said the water would prove fatal unless it was boiled before using it. Another advised the mixing of rum in the water as a sure preventive. Another writes that he has bathed in and drank of the water, and no harm ensued. One man declares that the artillery must be drawn by elephants, another prefers camels and bullocks. While another says that animals cannot be used at all in Abyssinia. The "Tetse" fly slays them all. One writes that a European in the bracing air of Abyssinia eats three times as much as he can anywhere else, and others declare that Europeans cannot live there at all. The Pall Mall Gazette, after reviewing a number of these letters and suggestions, says: "If there be any truth in the adage that 'in a multitude of counsellors there is safety,' her Majesty's Government should have no difficulty in organizing the expedition, if they can only make up their minds whom to believe."

Facetious Bismarck.

A German paper tells a story of Bismarck, which illustrates his fondness for a practical joke. The anecdote is as follows:

One day while he was dining at Frankfort at the table d'hote, he observed two young ladies sitting opposite to him who were talking and laughing in a very loud tone. He soon perceived that they were making fun of the company, and that their remarks were especially directed against himself, but he could not understand a word of what they were saying, as they spoke in the Lettish language, evidently making sure that no one at the table was acquainted with it. Although the Count was ignorant of that language, he had learned two or three Lettish words during a recent tour in Courland, and he determined to use his knowledge so as to disconcert his fair assailants. Turning to a friend who sat near him, he whispered, "When you hear me speak in a foreign language give me your watch key." Meanwhile the ladies went on talking more loudly than ever, and by the time the dessert was put on the table their hilarity had reached its climax. At length, during a pause after a somewhat heartier burst of laughter than usual, Count Bismarck said quietly to his friend, "Dohd man to azleck" (give me the key.) The effect was instantaneous; the ladies started as if they were shot, and with their faces covered with blushes rushed out of the room.

Atlantic Cable Returns.

The directors of the Atlantic Telegraph Company have issued their report in anticipation of the meeting. The revenue account shows that the total earnings by the cables during the year ending 27th of July last, have amounted to £205,317, but from this the Anglo-American Company have deducted £22,826 15s. on account of the two accidents that occurred to the 1866 cable, and the charge, not having been agreed to by the Atlantic Company, has for the present been carried to a suspense account. Notwithstanding these large deductions, there remains to the credit of revenue account a balance of £28,133 16s. 5d., and out of this the Board propose to declare a dividend for the year at the rate of four per cent., free of income tax, upon the first eight per cent. preferential stock. The report further states that the Board have been hitherto unsuccessful in their efforts to arrange with the directors of the Anglo-American Company a reduction of tariff.

Nothing was found, however. The Baron is supposed to be insane.

SHERIDAN'S RECEPTION.

At Steubenville—Along the Pan Handle—Allegheny County's Greeting.

The announcement made in the city papers yesterday morning, to the effect that the gallant Phil. Sheridan would pass through our city, caused unusual excitement in Republican circles, and at once measures were taken to ensure a proper demonstration of welcome on the part of the people. The Republican Executive Committee held a special meeting, and determined that the great interpreter of the principles of the party in the Fifth Military District should have such a greeting in loyal old Allegheny county as would cheer him on his way, and make him feel that no matter who are against him, the people—those who sustained our government in the hour of trial—are with him in heart and sentiment. In order that he might be welcomed the moment the train which bore him crossed the line of the State, a Committee on Welcome was appointed, and instructed to meet the Sheridan party at Steubenville. The following gentlemen, composing said Committee, took their departure on the 3:30 train of the Pan Handle Route: Col. J. H. Stewart, William Clawson, Wilkins Patterson, Isaac H. Walters, Dr. George McCook, Maj. J. A. Denniston, Dr. E. S. Umbstaetter, J. A. Herron, C. H. Jones, Hon. Thomas M. Howe, F. A. Ambuhl. The press was represented by Messrs. J. C. Ferry, T. T. Everett, C. E. Locke, James Battigan.

AT STEUBENVILLE.

After a few hours pleasant ride the delegation arrived at Steubenville, and put up at the very excellent United States Hotel, to await the coming of Sheridan, who was expected in "twenty miles away," as telegraph had informed the citizens of that city of the approach of "little Phil," and liberal and handsome preparations were made to give him a welcome as would do credit to their loyalty. His Honor, Mayor Elliot, and the City Council, with a delegation of citizens, met him at the depot, while His Honor Mayor McCarthy delivered the following address of welcome on behalf of the city:

MAYOR M'CARTHY'S WELCOME.

General: I address you on this occasion as the representative of the people of this community, who have here assembled to pay their respects and do honor to the brave man who, in the late rebellion, done his duty, not only nobly, but unselfishly, but like a true patriot, content to remain at home in the "masterly inactivity" found no countenance. (Immense applause.) The people have assembled here to-day to greet you, since the memorable battle of Stone river, (cheers,) where the rebels attempted to "whip you before daylight, and find you napping; but true to your invariable record, they found you on the field ready to receive them. And again with pride and pleasure at your late triumphant success for efforts at Mission Ridge (cheers) where you demonstrated what could be done by a General whose heart was in the cause, in infusing his own energy and indomitable will into those under his command. Here, sir, you were transferred from the West to the East, and sent to the Shenandoah Valley, you again electrified the hearts of the loyal and sent the enemies of the Government in the Valley and at the Five Forks whirling before you, so you have now again returned to the friends of the Union whirling towards you. (Cheers.)

The consideration of the people on the present occasion is not only the proof of their regard for your military services, but also of your policy in the administration of the civil affairs of the Fifth Military District, in which you have shown that you comprehended the true position of affairs and have given prompt redress to one creditor over others, contrary to the intent and meaning of the statute, and was, therefore, adjudicated in Bankruptcy.

The black band iron ore discovered in the Connellsville coke region, will supply, next winter and spring, does not quite meet the expectations first formed of it. The quantity, always it is difficult to find, precarious in its nature, sometimes large and often thin and lean, and expensive to bring to market; nevertheless is destined to revolutionize the business of the Schuylkill region in due time.

Three times three cheers were then given for the little hero, after which our patriotic Mayor McCarthy, on behalf of the citizens of Pittsburgh, addressed the assembled multitude.

REMARKS OF JUDGE SHANNON.

General Sheridan:—You have been received and welcomed to our city by His Honor Mayor McCarthy, on behalf of the citizens of Pittsburgh. It now becomes my duty to extend to you a welcome from all the citizens of Allegheny county. (Applause.) On behalf of our wives and children we welcome you as the true champion of American liberty. (Cheers.) Your patriotism and fidelity to your country in the hour of her affliction, you have the heartfelt blessings of this loyal community. (Immense applause.) By your faithful execution of the Laws of Congress, while in command of the Fifth Military District of the United States, you have shown that you were a hero, patriot and statesman, and for this we extend to you the hospitalities of our city. (Cheers.)

As it was near train time, Sheridan bowed a good night to the people and retired, and the meeting quietly and orderly dispersed.

Sheridan was received off eastward on his journey to Washington, feeling, doubtless honored and pleased with the endorsement of the people. He is accompanied by three members of his staff, Gen. J. W. Forsythe, Col. Geo. F. Forsythe and Lt. Col. F. W. C. Moore.

Return of Rt. Rev. Bishop Domenec.

The Societies of the different Roman Catholic churches of this city are making arrangements to extend a formal reception to the Rev. Bishop Domenec of this Diocese, who has returned to New York from Rome, and will arrive in this city on Sunday. A Committee of Reception will leave the Cathedral, on Sunday, and call the Pastors of the different congregations, at twelve o'clock, and proceed to East Liberty, where they will await the arrival of the train. Placing the Bishop in a carriage, they will proceed to the city line, where the Societies will be in waiting to escort him to the Cathedral. On arriving at the Cathedral, an address will be presented to the Rt. Rev. Prelate, on behalf of the clergy and laity of the Diocese. After the reading of the address and the Bishop's reply, Pontifical Vespers will be chanted, and the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament imparted.

Accident.—Mr. Thomas Rodgers, who has the contract for building the bridge at Sangertown, while at work raising the bridge, on Thursday, fell through upon the works below, and was very dangerously injured. He was taken to his home at Bennstown, where he lies in a very critical condition.

POWER OF THE PRESIDENT.

We have already recorded the fact that the organ of the President at Washington was counseling him, as a matter of high and imperative duty, to disregard the laws, whether Constitutional or statutory, so far as this course shall be necessary to the consummation of his plans. Coming from a journal holding only ordinary relations to the Executive, this might be regarded either as a momentary ebullition of passion, or as the wayward inspiration of an unbalanced intellect, rather than as the suggestion of a possible and near contingency, which swift-coming events might put into the category of the inevitable. Coming from a journal which has not only the ear, but the confidence of the President—which is notoriously inspired by him, and not he by it—this must be taken as the formal announcement of a settled purpose—as the deliberate proclamation of a scheme long brooded, and now thought to be ripe for execution.

This does not take us by surprise. Such an upshot would be but a natural and necessary conclusion to the principles upon which the President has acted for the last two years. It would simply be carrying his doctrines out to their legitimate practical consequence.

The President has steadily deduced his absolute and relative position in the government, not from the essential genius of popular institutions, nor yet from the Constitution, the Laws, and the decisions of the Supreme Court, but from the analogy furnished by monarchies. Instead of regarding himself as under the laws—as a servant thereof—bound, not to question, dispute or dictate, but to execute implicitly and faithfully all rules, regulations, and laws enacted by the supreme authority—he has constantly set himself up as having vast and indefeasible rights of judging, demurring and refusing in respect to what is laid on him as an obligation. He has not said, in terms, "I have natural, hereditary and inalienable authority, overtopping and dominating all other in the land," but he has acted it all along. Now, the key-note to his whole policy is sounded by his mouth-piece, in the suggestion for suppressing the law-making and law-expounding departments of the government, and openly assuming that all substantive power resides in the Executive. This is following exactly on the track of all the giant usurpers who, in past ages, have overthrown governments founded on the rights and will of the people. The feeler is put out to see if the men of this country are sufficiently tame and subdued, or grown so weary and disgusted with the task of maintaining their liberties as to be likely to give way under the vigorous onset.

Under the Government of the United States the President has only power and authority to execute the laws. He derives these from the laws, and from no other source whatever. Getting all his prerogatives from the laws, he has only such as they confer. He is the agent or instrument for carrying the laws into effect. He is not above the laws, or on a level with them. He is under the laws, in the capacity of a servant. No authority proceeds from him. It all comes from the laws. Nor is his duty lessened or modified by any opinions he may hold as to the character of any of the laws As a man, he has the same right to approve or condemn particular enactments as any of his fellow-citizens; but as President he is under the highest obligations to see that all the laws are respected by being obeyed. It is the part of wisdom for the people to put honor upon government by the people in taking special care to see that laws he is known to dissent from are faithfully executed. It is easy for a magistrate to magnify and guard those enactments which run specially in his way of thinking; that are congenial to his sentiments; that conduce to the success of his policy. The test of genuine fidelity, however, lies in his giving proper force and effect to the laws he does not like, but would repeal if the power of making and unmaking statutes was confided to his discretion.

While on this matter we may as well advance a step farther. An impression obtains in some minds that in dispensing the honors and patronage of the government the President may rightfully discriminate so as to make appointments conduce to the rendering of certain laws nugatory, or to their absolute repeal, because he is unfavorable thereto. Whatever patronage is lodged with the President was put there for the purpose of enabling him all the more certainly to fulfill his chief duty of carrying the laws into effect. If he so uses patronage as to defeat the laws, he becomes an offender, and may be rightfully stripped of the power he misuses. It is not for him to judge whether he has done his duty or not. The authority of determining that matter is given exclusively to Congress. The two Houses are not at liberty to proceed through malice or ill-will, but if in the exercise of a sound discretion, they believe the President has either done those things he ought not to have done, or has left undone those things he ought to have done, they are bound to present and try him for the delinquency.

THE ANTIETAM DEDICATION.

That the consecration of a Cemetery for the patriots who fell in defence of the Union, should be used to promote the ends of such men as Gov. SWANN, of Maryland, and the obnoxious principles of which he is the representative and type, is one of those deplorable incidents that mark the character of the times upon which we have fallen and the nature of the influences which go out from the national capital. That the loyal Governors present by special invitation upon the occasion, should not only be ignored, but be treated with undisguised contempt, shows that a patriotic cause was employed to disguise a most criminal intent, and to aid in preparing the way for the restoration of the disloyal element of the power which was wrested from them on the field of battle.

The Union soldiers who were in attendance, by that instinct which is superior to reason, and which served them well in many of the great exigencies of the war, comprehended at a glance the situation. The sentiment, like an electric shock, was communicated to the whole mass of people. It was this that produced that call from multitudinous voices, rising and swelling like the clamor of tumultuous waves, for Governor GEARY to address the excited and indignant masses. Popular as the Governor justly is, this was not an evidence of his popularity. Deserving as he eminently is, this was not a tribute to his desert. Courageous and skillful as he doubtless was in the field and in the fight, this was not a testimonial to his prowess. He was there as a loyal Governor—best known that particular assemblage of all the loyal Governors present. He was hailed as one—as the representative of all of them, and of those great constituencies by which they were elevated above their fellows. The wrath of the people against the President and his co-plotters, expressed in those calls upon Governor GEARY, was the significant circumstance. Those calls came from bosoms that felt a holy ground was desecrated, no matter what semblance of respect was maintained; that the sacred cause for which the honored dead, lying there, lost their lives, was traduced; and that instead of canonizing the slain, the real design was to lift treason out of its humiliation, to endow it with power, to make it potent for mischief, and even to crown it with the garland of victory.

The President, doubtless, comprehends better now that it is not easy to deceive the people in a case like this.

ANTIETAM.

The following spirited poem from the pen of CLARENCE F. BURLEIGH, of New York, was read at the dedication of Antietam Cemetery. It was selected out of a large number of contributions, some from the most popular verse writers of the country, and will amply repay perusal, and prove exceedingly interesting to the brave men who figured in the scenes so truthfully described:

Upon a bright September morn,
Five years ago to-day,
The pleasant hills of Maryland
Green and untrodden lay;
While Autumn leaves were strewn around
In purple and in gold,
Like that Assyrian host, o'er which
The plague at midnight rolled.

The Pheasant beat his long tattoo
Where soon the drum would play,
And merrily Antietam Creek
Went singing on its way;
But many a tattered banner thrilled
Upon the Armory wall,
As if it felt the coming
Of a tempest soon to fall.

The tramp of Lee's battalions
Struck faintly on the ear,
As thunder in the distance tells
A storm is drawing near;
While stretched along yon bristling hill
The rebel files of gray,
Like leaden clouds that soon would burst
In ruin and disarray.

But round the flag of Freedom
Her stalwart yeomen stood,
Resolved its stars should never set
Till they went down in blood.
Not flower of speech lost on the blast
Had answered her appeal,
But marches like a gathering storm
Or avalanche of steel;
With every hamlet adding
To the thunder of their tread,
As if in Revolution's graves
Were giving up their dead,
And students fighting in their dreams
The Punic wars again,
Like Roman Marathon's horse, stumbled,
Or in his holier cause to bleed
On red Antietam's plain.

The combat opened; and between
The valleys whistling then
Were fiery sulphur clouds, were heard
The cheers of Hooker's men;
And where the yellow corn had waved
Artillery sowed the field
With shot and shell that make it still
An iron harvest yield.

'Mid showers of grape and canister
Along our lines of blue,
The Sons of Seventy-Six struck with
The Arm of Sixty-Two,
Beneath our flag the Lord of Hosts
Fought on this reeking sod
For traitors to their country
Are traitors to their God.

In Freedom's holy brotherhood
The Saxon and the Gaul,
Shoulder to shoulder as they fell,
Shared Glory's crimson pall.
The Pennsylvania husbandman
And Western mountaineer,
Across the swarthy raider lay,
With empty musket, here.

Here fell the dauntless Mansfield,
Whose streaming locks of snow
Could never for a moment chill
The fiery heart below;
And yonder bridge, that Burnside
So gallantly did hold,
Is now as classic as the Pass
The Spartans held of old.

Young Rodman, as he prophesied lay,
Still waved his flag on high,
And faintly with his dying breath
Sent up a battle-cry.

Well might Duryee, as true a knight
As ever couched a lance,
Smile grimly to behold his Zouaves
With springing step advance;
And in their onset, Meagher's brigade
Of Erin's hardy sons,
Paused not till they were looking down
The muzzles of the guns.
The burly form of Hooker
Tossed on the surging flood,
Till he had shown a rideman
The color of his blood;
While Sumner, Meade and Sedgwick,
Like old campaigners, made
Raw striplings breast like regulars
The galling cannonade.

Historic Maryland! such deeds
Have made, with brilliant gleam,
A Marathon of every plain,
A Nile of every stream;
And never more would Europe boast
Of her scarred grenadiers,
Could she have seen the work that day
Done by our volunteers.

Four times you wood was won and lost
Ere night the fate unbiased,
And to its staff our banner clung
In scarlet rain bedrenched,
When onward swept the brawny troops
That never charged in vain—
Our hon-souled Green Mountain Boys
And immbering Men of Maine!
And from their masked intrenchments
The veteran ranks within
Were hurled, as if each bayonet
A thunderbolt had been.

Ah! sweetly by the planter's porch
The orange tree will rise,
But never more its snowy bloom
Will cheer his wistful eyes;
For many a year to come, his blood,
That blacks or bullet drew,
Will make thy roses, Maryland,
Spring with a redder hue.

Thin grew the host that fought beneath
The fallen stars; and then—
Like gray wolves backward, inch by inch,
Retreating to their den—
Unto the cover of their works
The baffled horde withdrew,
And soon upon the dust of strife
The evening sprinkled dew.

The martial strains rose from our camp,
And in the wounded listener's ear
The nerveless hand was clenched again—
Again the glazed eye glistened.

Some thought of dear ones, who afar
Would name them from the pillow,
Or maidens who that night would sit
Alone beneath the willow.

Some thought of stately marble halls
That in the city towered,
And others of an humble cot
Amid the vines embowered.

Yet wheresoever their thoughts were turned,
As memory's magnet drew them,
The spot was hallowed by the name
Of "Home sweet Home" unto them.

But when the morn in beauty broke,
Those heroes who had striven
So nobly for their home, had found
A better home in Heaven.

Then softer grew the hard brown hand,
As, with a woman's care,
Rough soldiers gently bore away
Their fallen comrades there!

But when the last long trench had closed
Above unnumbered slain,
All grades forgot—an army lay
Encamped beneath this plain!

Yes! in dark barracks underneath
Rest those who chose the cypress wreath,
In service brief as glorious trained,
To leave with dishonor stained;
Rest, till with those who thronged still
At Marathon and Bunker's Hill,
By louder trump than battle drew,
They're marshaled for the last review.

No more the pulse that beats so true
Will quicken as the loud tattoo
Ascends at sunrise from the camp,
Or opens beat the measured tramp;
But hands unseen will hither bring
The earliest violets of the Spring;
And pilgrims who have viewed with awe,
The ruins of that haunted shore,
Where shrouds of lava overspread
The silent cities of the dead.

And every step brings through the gloom
An echo from the storied tomb,
No longer o'er the deep will roam
To leave a holier shrine at home!
For every clod we tread to-day
Is memory from some hero's clay,
And, looking downward from the skies,
Will thence the melancholy eyes
Of Lincoln wears a tenderer glow
As on this scene he gazes now.

I feel a God-like presence near—
The Great Emancipator's here!
O Death! where is thy sting? O Grave!
Where is thy victory o'er the brave!

Not with dim sight and tottering frame
They fought the duel from which they came;
With eye whose flash seemed of the storm,
And war embodied in each form,
They marched at Glory's election call
To graves as to a banquet hall,
And though sweet voices filled each wind
From home, cast not one look behind.

Through such heroic sights as those
The Lord of Hosts his Godhead shows.
O'er them no mournful requiem floats,
But bugles peal their loudest notes,
As to the heaven of Fame they march
Beneath our flag—its rainbow arch,
With an eternal furlough blest,
Sweet, sweet shall be the patriot's rest.
Fatigued with toil whose fruits sublime
Are budding on the bough of Time.

And while above these sainted graves
One stripe of their old flag shall wave,
That consecrated spot will be
A sacred Mecca of the Free!

After the capital of the foregoing poem the following beautiful hymn was sung. It is from the pen of Rev. EDWARD MEYER, of this State, whose contributions to the current literature of the day are familiar to all:

HYMN.
Old Hundred.

I.

"ADELDAMA" O Lord, our God,
Who evermore dost Israel keep,
Watered in tears, baptized in blood,
Thou givest our beloved sleep.

II.

They came at Freedom's trumpet call,
From hall and cottage, fane and dome,
Venturing limb, and life, and all
For Truth and Right, for hearth and home.

III.

Thousands of heroes bit the dust,
Antietam, on thy crimson field;
Thrice armed were they, with quarrel just,
The Lord their banner, sun, and shield.

IV.

Lift high the granite shaft for all
That fell where duty summoned them;
Their country's star-gem'd flag their pall,
A Nation's wail their requiem!

V.

O Lord! and shall they live again,
These bones, the seed of crimson strife!
Thy spirit breathes upon these slain,
And they shall thrill with endless life!

VI.

In living hope, then, we commit
This precious dust, for Freedom giv'n,
To thee, till angels gather it,
Transfigured, in the urn of Heav'n!

A SOUTHERN EDITOR.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—The editor of the Workingman's Advocate is devoting himself to the dirty task of traducing and abusing the Republican candidates, and especially our candidate for Senator. To attempt to follow him in this foul work and to expose his falsehoods would require more time and room than all the papers in the State could afford.

It becomes, however, a fit subject of inquiry, who the editor of that sheet is—where he came from, and what are his views on national questions; and this much we have ascertained, viz: that he was lately brought here from Kentucky; that he was there employed on the Louisville Journal; and that he is believed, by some of those who know him well, to be thoroughly Southern in his sympathies.

Will the people of this loyal county permit themselves to be dragooned by one suspected of Southern sympathies, and be dictated to by one who comes to them with the taint of disloyal Kentucky upon him. Is it any wonder that a party under such a lead should naturally rally to it all those who in this county arrayed themselves against the Government during the war?

The loyal people of this county will not tolerate the intermeddling in their politics of any Kentuckian who cannot show a clean, loyal record. Most especially will they not permit such an one to traduce some of their best citizens, and spread befoe them, day after day, column upon column of shameless mendacity.

A movement headed by a Kentucky editor, fostered and encouraged by all the leading Democrats in the county, with leading Copperheads as delegates in its County Convention, and a prominent Copperhead at the head of its Assembly ticket, can never receive or merit the confidence of the people of this county. It is got up wrong. Every element about it is suspicious. The loyal men in Allegheny county cannot be fooled into association with those who opposed them during the war.

Hidden Treasure.

More than once we have heard rumors of treasures having been buried in Fayette county; what degree of reliance can be placed in them is for each to decide for himself. About two years ago the rumor took this shape, that in olden times there resided somewhere near a creek a man who, hermit-like, shunned the intercourse of his fellow men. He was reported to be the possessor of immense wealth, whether obtained under the auspices of Lafitte or not, was not said. Suddenly our hermit was killed by the Indians, and with him was buried the secret of the place where the money was deposited. To-day the rumor assumes this form, that under the Mexican rule, a conducta was started from Washington, in this State, under charge of sixteen Mexicans, who had in their charge the small sum of $7,000,000. They took the trail leading through this place, and when near Buckner's creek, perceiving Indian signs, they buried the money. The Indians attacked them and killed all but three, whom they carried away into captivity. Four years ago, the surviving prisoner having escaped, returned to the scene of the deposit, confided the secret to a gentleman, and the two started to make discoveries. On the journey, the Mexican's horse stumbled, threw and killed his rider. His companion is reported to have spent much time in digging for the lost money, but not being able to unearth it, made his secret public. We hear that a party, on the strength of this information, is now engaged in the hunt for this treasure. When they find it, we shall report the fact.—La Grange True Era.

—On Friday last the Union Pacific Railway had completed 450 miles of track west of Omaha, leaving fifty-eight miles of track to put down to reach the new city of Cheyenne, at the base of the Rocky Mountains. The company expect to have this link completed by the 10th of October, when the great editorial excursion train will pass up the Valley of the Platte, en route to the Rocky Mountains. Last October the excursion party penetrated 271 miles west of Omaha, being within two miles of the crossing of the North Platte. In one year from that date, 246 miles will be added to the length of the road, making a total of 517 miles from the Missouri river to the Rocky Mountains.

—Gov. Morton, as well as Speaker Colfax, denies all responsibility for or sympathy with "sixteen reasons" why Gen. Grant should not be nominated for President. Mr. Colfax authorizes the editor of the South Bend Register, his old paper, to say that "he utterly repudiates and condemns the whole circular, and all of its charges and insinuations against Gen. Grant, from beginning to end. Nor does Mr. C. believe that any friend of his had any agency whatever in its preparation, printing or circulation."

WEAR AND TEAR.

When the constitution is weak and the system depressed by the wear and tear of business life, which makes such tremendous drafts upon the body and mind, unless some healthful and strengthening tonic is resorted to, pro tration will ensue, and the whole energy unnerves upon the victim of indigence. But if

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS,

Which is a genial and purely vegetable stimulant, be timely administered, the organization will resist and baffle the veins of epidemic and changes of temperature incidental to this season of the year, which disorder the nerves of the feeble.

There is an active and permanent vitality in this remedy, which will prove of great benefit to the broken down and shattered constitution. It is the only tonic of which the stimulating principle is perfectly pure. Its basis is the essential principle of sound rye, which is admitted by analytical chemists to be the most harmless of stimulants, and this fluid is refined from crudities which belong to it as it comes from the manufacturer. The other ingredients are composed of medicinal plants and herbs, and contain not one harmful element in all their composition.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which had been advised to "let alone" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure; and the fistula ran for nine months, during which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some morbid condition in the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the appliances you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully,
C——.

Dr. Keyser's consultation rooms are No. 128 Penn street, from 8 A. M. until 4 P. M.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

500 DOLLARS REWARD IS OFFERED to any man who can present a good and satisfactory reason why Christ an people (or those who manage for them) should give money freely—in some cases by hundreds and in others by thousands of dollars—for the decoration of their church edifices, and then say they are "too poor," "too much cramped," when it comes to the question of spending $1 to 100 dollars for supplying their house of worship, thus, best, with an appendage to the question, which every man is ready to say at once applies to an old church pew, because indispensable to the comfort and convenience of a large class of the worshipers.

THREE NEW MUSIC BOOKS.

MASON BROTHERS, 596 Broadway, New York, have just published the following important New books:

THE TEMPLE CHOIR. A new collection of Church Music by WM. B. BRADBURY, assisted by LOWELL MASON and WILLIAM S. BRADBURY. Containing an unusually large amount and a variety of new matter; many new Tunes, Anthems, etc., by the Authors and other popular composers. The Singing School Department is very attractive and complete; it has a fine collection of new Glees and Part Songs for choir practice, and is very rich in its Anthem department.

This is the first time Dr. Mason and Mr. Bradbury have been united in the authorship of a collect on of church music.

It is plain, clear type, mostly one part on a staff. 384 pp. large music 8vo. Price $ .50 each, $4.80 per dozen. To facilitate examination, we will send a single copy of this work to any teacher of music or leader of a choir on receipt of one dollar.

A NEW METHOD FOR THE PIANOFORTE, by WILLIAM MASON and E. S. HOADLY. Ready early in October.

A most valuable book, presenting the best results of modern experience in piano teaching. It embodies the system and practice of the most eminent and successful teachers, containing many new features, and furnishing a shorter and surer road to proficiency on this instrument than has hitherto been available.

It is carefully progressive throughout; prints in full, as far as possible, those minute directions which the best teachers are accustomed to give their pupils; teaches the art of fingering more fully and clearly than previous works; gives important and hitherto needed directions for training the hands; teaches the true mode for accompanying vocal music, sacred and secular, and affords sufficient instruction in harmony for those who wish to extemporize pieces of short passages; presents a system of ACCENT EXERCISES invented by Mr. Mason, and used with great success in his private teaching; contains a most complete and choice collection of pieces from the best composers for practice and recreation, every one of which is believed to be real y attractive.

It is elegantly manufactured, with illustrations. 146 pp. large 4to. Price $4.00.

To facilitate examination, we will send a single copy, postpaid, to any professional teacher of the piano-forte, on receipt of three dollars.

AMERICAN ODE SONG BOOK. By SILVER, PIKE & ROBERTS. A New Collection of Hymns and Tunes for Sunday Schools, containing many beautiful new songs, with a copious selection of the old ones. Great care has been taken to exclude objectionable words.

This is believed to be the most attractive and best book of its class. Price, in paper covers 30 cents each, or $25.00 per hundred. In boards, 35 cents each, or $30.00 per hundred.

Any copy, paper, to any Superintendent, for examination, for 15 cents

The Pittsburgh Gazette

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS.

Before Hon. Edwin H. Stowe.

This Court met at ten o'clock, Thursday morning, and proceeded with the trial of the

MOFFIT-THOMPSON CONSPIRACY CASE.

Commonwealth vs. Alexander Moffitt, indictment for conspiracy with William Dawson to charge and indict Isaac Thompson for dealing in counterfeit money.

Isaac Thompson, prosecutor, was called, and testified that the charge made against him by William Dawson, before the United States Commissioner, was wholly false. He said he had spent a considerable amount of money in this case, hunting up witnesses, &c.

The Commonwealth here rested their case.

For the defense J. S. Graham, Esq., made the formal opening. He thought they might safely rest the case with what had been shown in the Commonwealth, nothing having been adduced to show, beyond doubt, that the charge against Isaac Thompson was false, which the jury must believe before they could convict. But the defense chose to go further into the case, and show that for years the Monongahela Valley, in the vicinity of Brownsville, had been infested by a gang of counterfeiters, of which Isaac Thompson was the head and front. He was a wealthy man—a mistaken sign of respectability—and men hesitated to proceed against him. The gentleman next gave the history of the case, detailing circumstances prior to the arrest of Isaac Thompson on the information of William Dawson, as connected with what transpired subsequently, and then proceeded to show that Thompson had been the head-center of a gang of counterfeiters, some of whom were now in the Penitentiary, and the reason Thompson was not there also was because Dawson had escaped.

Hamilton Fitzsimmons, of Greenfield, Washington county, testified he was constable there in May, 1866, and at Dawson's for Job, Johnston Justice of the Peace. Had a warrant for the arrest of William Dawson, about the middle of May, 1866, issued by Justice Johnston; when I first got the warrant I went to West Brownsville, with two other men, but could not find Dawson; then went to Alex. Moffitt at his carriage shop, in East Brownsville; saw Moffitt, and told him my business; he appeared to be very busy, and directed me to go and see William Nicholas' left; Nichols and Moffitt to watch for Dawson, and return home to West Greenfield; about nine o'clock at night Moffit and Nicholas came to my house; got up and we all—Moffitt, Nichols and witness—went up to Squire Johnston's. Moffitt and Nicholas said they had decoyed Dawson to "Krepp's Knob." Squire Johnston sent another man along, and I proposed to go and arrest Dawson and another man for whom I had a warrant; had several warrants at that time. As we approached Krepp's Knob, Moffitt and Nicholls rode ahead, and as they halted witness and Watkins rode past; one of them said Dawson was in a stable, and witness told either Moffitt or Nichols to bring Dawson to him, and to tell Dawson that he (witness) had a warrant for him, and also to tell Dawson to go along with Moffitt and Nichols to Squire Johnston's, while he (witness) went to get another man. Witness said it was his intention to go to Geneva that night. Next day witness went to Squire Johnston's, and that evening got on the boat at California; saw Dawson on the boat, witness' object in getting on the boat was to bring Dawson and what other prisoners he had to Pittsburgh; got to the city early next morning; witness was given up the business, hardly knowing what to do with the prisoners, and finally left them in charge of Moffitt and a man by the name of Blinco, at the National Hotel; witness went to see the United States Marshal, and afterwards took the prisoners to the Custom House, to the United States Commissioner; witness could scarcely remember what further took place; there was an examination or hearing, and Haggerty appeared to be testifying against Dawson. Heard Dawson make a statement; it was not in reference to Isaac Thompson.

R. B. Carnahan, Esq., United States District Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania, remembered the fact of the examination of Dawson, before the United States Commissioner, immediately after the May term, 1866; he gave testimony in the case of a man named Haggerty, who had been arrested for passing counterfeit money; Haggerty had made a confession in which he had implicated Dawson, and it was in reference to this that Dawson was examined, first being cautioned that he was not compelled to say anything that would implicate himself. On the strength of the statement made by Dawson, a warrant was subsequently issued for Dawson, when it was ascertained that he had gone away. Quite a number of informations were made by Dawson against a number of persons, seven or eight, after the examination in Haggerty's case. Dawson was in the custody of the Marshal, but after consultation was permitted to go home. Witness did not know Dawson; the Marshal (Murdock,) and also Colonel Byers, of Washington county, who was acting as Deputy Marshal, did know him, and they consulted with witness as to the propriety of letting Dawson go home, as he desired, to attend to some matters of business; he was permitted to go away, with the understanding that he was to return in two days afterwards; he did not return.

Job Johnston, Justice of the Peace at California, Washington county, testified that Haggerty made an information against Dawson and two others for passing counterfeit money, upon which warrants were issued and placed in the hands of a constable. Dawson was brought to witness' office on the night succeeding the making of the information. Next day Dawson came back by himself and made oath against two parties for passing counterfeit money; witness asked if there were no other persons implicated in the business he said there were, but it was a big thing, and that there were men implicated whom witness would not think; he mentioned Isaac Thompson as one of the persons he implicated. Dawson when in jail said that he had a mind to make a confession, and asked witness' advice. Witness suggested to Dawson that he should go to Pittsburgh, to the United States Marshal, and have the matter there attended to, as he (witness) had no officer to arrest the parties. Dawson agreed to go to Pittsburgh, and at his request witness gave him a letter of introduction to the United States Marshal.

William Nichols was the next witness, and testified to the circumstances attending the arrest of Dawson. He also testified that Samuel Thompson came to him and said he had a subpœna for him as a witness in this case. Witness said he had no money to go around attending to law suits. Thompson then said money would be furnished him, that they were all going to be together.

Wesley Fry, of Finleyville, testified that he had known Isaac Thompson a great many years; his reputation was that of a dealer in counterfeit money.

John Conway, of Fredericktown, Washington county, had known Isaac Thompson since he was a boy, and had heard of him being in a gang of counterfeiters for years.

Isaac Langdon had known Isaac Thompson for about ten years; knew nothing against his character, or of his being a dealer in counterfeit money.

J. M. Morrison had known Isaac Thompson personally for about a month; knew of his reputation as a dealer in counterfeit money prior to May, 1866; his reputation in this respect was bad.

John Crouch resided in the vicinity of Brownsville, but had been in the army from 1861 to 1865, and, therefore, could not say as to Thompson's reputation as a counterfeiter, in the neighborhood of Brownsville, during that time.

John Wilkins testified that "outsiders" said the character of Isaac Thompson was that of a dealer in counterfeit money.

Court adjourned to meet at nine o'clock Friday morning.

Police Items.

ALDERMAN TAYLOR.—Michael Cullan made information against John Wright, yesterday, for surety of the peace, alleging that the deponent threatened to kill him. A warrant was issued.

ALDERMAN DONALDSON.—Mary Verner made information before this magistrate against Levina and Missouri Huston, Lizzie Watson and Ella Watt, yesterday for surety of the peace. The parties were arrested and held for Court.

Thomas Smith, constable, charges Levina and Missouri Huston with assault and battery. He alleges that the defendants assaulted him while in the performance of his duty, in serving a warrant on them. They were arrested and held for a hearing.

ALDERMAN MCMASTERS.—Antone Cerezhine made information against Lowin Mazza, yesterday, charging her with the larceny of two thousand dollars. It appears that the defendant in this case is the wife of Francis Mazza, an organ grinder, who had saved money to the amount of $2,000 in bonds and dollars; which he gave his wife for safe keeping. Subsequent to recovering the money she deserted him, and refuses to give up the money. Information was made as above, but it appearing that the money was claimed by the husband of the defendant, the case was dismissed.

ALDERMAN LYNCH.—George Green appeared before this magistrate yesterday, and made information against John Kjiaer, a saloon keeper in the Diamond, charging him with keeping a gambling house. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Patrick Lamb, on the same day, made information against Arthur Ballon for surety of the peace. Mr. Ballon is engaged in the manufacture of vinegar on Second street. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

ALDERMAN STRAIN.—Magdalena Swartz made information yesterday against Annie D. Leonard for surety of the peace. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Mary Switzer, on the same day, made information against Kate Dunk for surety of the peace.

ALDERMAN THOMAS.—Patrick Owens appeared before Alderman Thomas yesterday and charged John McElvary with committing an assault and battery upon him by striking in the face, and drawing blood. It seems from the evidence given that the parties were on a kind of "spree," and had made their way to the Allegheny Valley Railroad Depot, to take the train for Kittanning, when John wanted to borrow a quarter from Pat, which was refused. The answer did not suit John, and he struck Pat. John was arrested by officer Mattern. The difficulty was amicably settled, John to pay the costs, and Pat to give him a dollar to help him to Kittanning.

Thursday, September 19.—Elizabeth Henry vs. William Jameson. Action for slander, plaintiff claiming that defendant had accused her with having had criminal intercourse with James Jameson. The "Muffin" Game.—The "Muffin" kings of the Enterprise and Allegheny Base Ball Clubs, play their long expected match game to-day at 3 p. m. on the West Commons. A band of music has been engaged and will be in attendance. Both nines have been in training during the past week, and will no doubt afford amusement as well as instruction to those who desire to witness the game. Mr. W. McCleland, of the Lincoln has consented to act as Umpire.

Condition of the Streets.—Many of the streets in different portions of the city were in an extremely filthy condition last night after the slight shower of rain. Dirt that should have long since been removed was almost in a fluid state, and of course will have to remain so for a few days longer, and the gutters in many places are filled with vegetable matter in a state of decomposition. The authorities should have these matters attended to Congregational Association.

The semi-annual meeting of the Congregational Association of Western Pennsylvania was held last week at Mercerville, Crawford county, all the churches in the Association, four excepted being represented.

Rev. H. B. Delemater was chosen Moderator, and Brother G. F. Words, Scribe.

The meetings were characterized by an earnest Christian spirit.

The cheering intelligence from the various fields of labor showed that Congregational polity is being favorably received throughout large sections of our country, not only South and West, but in our own State, and the friends of Congregationalism have never had greater incentives to zealous labor than at the present time.

Resolutions were passed in sympathy with the great progressive moral and religious movements of the day.

The next annual meeting will be held in Feburary, in the Plymouth Congregational Church, in Pittsburgh.

Left His Pocket Book.

A German while purchasing tickets for himself, at the Union Depot, drew a pocket book from his pocket, containing one thousand four hundred and eighty dollars, which he says he laid down while taking another from his pocket, from which he took money to pay for his tickets, after which he walked away, leaving the first pocket book lying on the desk. Discovering his loss some time afterward, he returned, but has as yet heard nothing of his money. Nor is he likely to.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, September 19, 1867.

Gold opened strong at 140¾, but gradually declined to 140¼. The decline is due principally to the rise of our bonds in London, and the dealings of operators for a rise, who are pressing their gold on the market, and offer short sales in order to enable them to cover previous contracts. There is nothing in the political situation that could warrant a rise for the present if it was not for the gold gamblers. Bonds are very much depressed, especially Coupons, Five Twenties of 1864, 1865 and Eighty-one's. Stocks are also lower, and the market dull—any large lot could not be sold in the market.

—The first series of the 7-30 bonds no longer commands a premium, the time allowed for converting them into new 5-20s having expired on the 14th inst. They are now paid at the Sub-Treasury in currency at par and interest. The following is the substance of a despatch to-day from Washington relative to the matter:

"The privilege of converting the August issue of the 7 30s having expired yesterday, the remainder, only about five million dollars, will be paid in cash. The Secretary is getting cash three per cents ready, with a view of their possible use in the payment of the October compounds."

—The failure of Messrs. Gill, Gillette & Noyes, of New York, a very respectable house engaged in the tea trade, and enjoying a good credit, is announced. It is understood that the indebtedness of the firm is very little more than half a million dollars, and their obligations are chiefly in the hands of banks or private capitalists who have bought them through the note brokers. The cause of the failure is said to be the withdrawal of capital, including the purchase of goods for gold and their resale for currency.

—A person by the name of Henry Livingstone some time ago presented a forged check at one of the New York banks, in the name of Mr. Vanderbilt, for seventy-five thousand dollars, and received the money. He went West, bought a $20,000 farm of 1000 acres, stock it with the best, including between forty and fifty fast horses, associated with him a fast woman, whom he introduced to the neighborhood as the daughter of Mr. Vanderbilt the gentleman through the use of whose name he had victimized the bank of the capital on which he had set himself up in business, and lived generally as a man of wealth having the most reputable connections. All this display attracted the attention of the police, who traced him to his retreat, and attached the farm for the use of the bank. The only means of tracing the forger was a pen and ink sketch of him, made from recollection by the teller of the bank who gave him the money. With this outline picture the officers in pursuit arrested a man of similar appearance, and he was sent. The train of circumstances that led to the detection of the culprit is scarcely more remarkable than is the fact that a bank should pay so large a sum of money to a stranger. It was certainly a most careless act. The occasion is comparatively rare, even in the large cities, who can draw checks for such large amounts. If one of these men did business habitually in such way and on such a scale as to accustom a bank officer to pay his checks, to whatever amount, or by whomever presented, as a matter of course, it seems to us, could such a circumstance occur as the payment, with little examination, to a stranger, of a check for seventy-five thousand dollars. The fault is probably, to a great degree, Mr. Vanderbilt's own, as it is reported of him that he knows and cares little about certain kinds of important transactions, because when it took place he was at whist, and he never allowed business to interfere with his pleasure. The fellow who presented the check for seventy-five thousand dollars, with Mr. Vanderbilt's name forged to it, must have been familiar with the business habits of his victim: he must have ascertained beforehand that if he offered a check for that amount it would be paid, and also ascertained that it would probably not even come to the bank to notify Mr. Vanderbilt of the check, as something unusual. The circumstances conveys a salutary caution to bank tellers, and also to gentlemen having bank deposits, to keep their peculiarities a little private.—Phila. Ledger.

Last week	6677	19,833	14,693

The supply of Cattle was unusually heavy this week, larger than during any preceding week in the history of the Central Yards, every available spot in the vicinity being full and overflowing. All the pens and alleys were crowded to their utmost capacity, and then, it was found necessary to turn out large numbers in some of the fields adjoining. The cause for this is the drouth to the west, and the want of pasture, and the only alternative farmers have is to send their cattle to market in order to get rid of them. As a consequence, the market for common cattle, and there were but comparatively few of any other kind on sale, was a very hard one, and, compared with last week, prices are fully or dollar per cwt. lower. Stock growers, in the eastern part of the State, are peculiarly fortunate this year in having an abundance of pasture and a fine prospect for a good crop of corn, and here they can buy stock cattle at almost their own price—indeed, they are masters of the situation. Prime fat cattle were scarce and in demand, and sold readily at extreme prices—one drove of choice Southern Ohio steers brought $149.50 per head, and several other droves of good to prime fat steers brought from 9¾ to 10¾ per pound. A number already intimated, stock cattle were exceedingly dull and lower, selling at from 4 to 8½c.

HOGS.

There was considerable excitement in the Hog market yesterday, and, under the influence of a prospective light supply, prices ruled higher—that is for prime fat Hogs—one drove of choice sold at 8½c. gross, and one or two others brought 8 to 8½c. To-day, however, owing to increased arrivals, the market was fully 3c easier per cwt. lower, and the very best would not have brought over 8c. Light Hogs, such as are usually shipped to New York, ruled about the same as last week, bringing from 6¾ to 7c. The excessively hot weather of the past few days has been disastrous to shippers—we are cognizant of one shipper having lost 30 head in three car loads, from this cause alone.

SHEEP.

Under the influence of greatly diminished arrivals, the market for Sheep was considerably firmer this week, and prime fat Sheep may be quoted at ¼ to ½c a pound higher. Quotations may be fairly given at 3 to 3c. gross, for common to prime heavy mutton Sheep. Glass & Lafferty sold 44 head common, to Rawl, at 3½c; 24 head to Case at 3.90 per head; 90 head to Lloyd, averaging 69 pounds, at 4c; 183 head to Cook at 3½c, and 186 head to same buyer, at 3½ and 3¾ premium. Lloyd bought 80 head from Beck, averging 88 lbs, at 4½; 100 head from Miller, averging 81 lbs, at 3.30.
